Vocabulary Worksheet

Below are a list of terms and phrases that you will encounter while reading the article and listening to the interview. Using a dictionary, provide definitions for each term or phrase. If you cannot find a formal definition, write down what you think the term or phrase might mean. Keep in mind that the meanings of these terms in science may be different from the way we used them in common speech.

Reading Guide Worksheet

Use this worksheet to guide your reading of the primary article. As you read, answer the questions in your own words. Whenever possible, make notes as to where in the text you found your answer (e.g., in the Methods section, in the fifth paragraph on page 112).

1. Who are the authors of the article? What information can you find about them in the article directly?
2. What specific problem is this research attempting to address? (Another way to think of this: What reasons do the authors give for conducting this research?)
3. What group(s) of people does the research focus on?
4. What were the specific research questions the study attempted to answer? (Another way to think of this is: What were the researchers' hypotheses? What were they trying to find out?)
5. List the methods the researchers used to collect data.
6. What did the researchers find? Summarize the key points.
7. What questions were raised in your reading of the article?
